

Marketing & Public Relations Intern

revelant is a remote first, global boutique management consulting firm serving beauty, fashion, travel, and lifestyle brands with marketing strategy, inclusive marketing, event planning, and supplier diversity consulting, training, and outsourcing solutions. Every organization is at a different stage in their brand's journey. Whether a brand is an idea, in an early stage, or mature and established – we can help. Our mission is to help B2C brands successfully navigate seasons of change (launch, rebrand, and growth). We are proud to be a Black owned and operated women owned and operated firm!

Overview

We're hiring a Marketing & Public Relations intern to take ownership of our outbound partnership and affiliate initiatives. This role is for a hustler—someone who thrives on making things happen without needing constant direction. You'll spend your time identifying and securing guest posting opportunities, booking podcast appearances, setting up co-webinars with high-value partners, getting us featured in newsletters and publications, and supporting the creation and launch of strategic partnerships. Our team is fully remote, you will be, too!

Job Responsibilities

- Guest Posting: Proactively identify and secure high-quality guest posting opportunities on relevant blogs, websites, and publications
- Podcast Booking: Research, pitch, and book our Founding Partner on podcasts & manage our show
- Strategic Partnerships: Establish brand partnerships with mutually beneficial relationships
- Media Exposure: Get features in newsletters, online publications, and other media outlets to boost brand visibility
- Tracking & Accountability: Diligently track and measure outcomes
- Market Research: Conduct market research to identify trends and opportunities
- Event Planning: Support digital and in person event planning, coordination, and promotion
